

o m

11TH GLOBAL GASTROENTEROLOGISTS MEETING

June 12-13, 2017 Rome, Italy

&RPSOLF DWLRQV RI DQWHJUDGQ\ DFFHV V DW WKH GHFRPSU
MDXQGLFH DQG ZD\ V RI WKHLU WUHDWPHQW

Liana Kurmanseitova, Baycherov E and '] K D Q L E H N R Y D O
Stavropol State Medical University, Russia

Introduction Percutaneous transhepatic drainage of the bile duct and its tributaries is performed for the patient unresectable tumor of the hepato-duodenal area with obstruction of biliary system; only when it is not possible to drain due to dramatic pathological changes in the region or low performance status of the patient. This procedure improves life and overall survival without changing disease prognosis.

Aim

Notes: