

2nd International Congress on

International Conference on

October 15-16, 2018 | Las Vegas, USA

ESBL producing Klebsiella pneumoniae outbreak in the neonatal ICU of a tertiary hospital in the Sultanate of Oman

Sumaiah Farook
Royal Hospital, Sultanate of Oman

Background and Objectives: K. pneumoniae has emerged as an important cause of hospital-acquired infections, particularly among patients in neonatal intensive care units with several risk factors resulting in a trend of increased colonization and infections. This study examines an outbreak of ESBL producing