

Safety at Work: an Issue of Daily Management Behavior

Mark Füllemann

Practice & Experience Ltd, Switzerland

To move the number of accidents down towards Zero management must accept its responsibility for Safety at Work. Using a model developed by the IMD president Jean-François Manzoni a number of management teams were asked which was the most important lever to influence the behavior of workers. The outcome was very clear: it is the behavior of management. But the same management teams indica