

Neonatal and Pediatric Medicine

Open Access

assisted surgery, have reduced recovery times, minimized scarring, and improved patient outcomes. These innovations have been particularly beneficial for children requiring surgery for congenital defects, tumors, or gastrointestinal conditions. The ability to perform delicate surgeries with greater precision and less disruption to surrounding tissues has been a game-changer in pediatric care [9].

Technology has also played a significant role in diagnostic