

IMMUNOMODULATING PROPERTIES OF A BIOLOGICAL PRODUCT BASED ON HORSE PLACENTA

ABSTRACT:

Currently, a fairly wide range of studies is devoted to studying the possibilities of using placenta extracts obtained by lysis of human placental tissues, sheep, goats, cattle and horses in medicine.

Based on these data, purpose to our study was to explore ix biological properties of the active drug based on horse placenta under conditions in vitro.

Research methods: