

Palliative Cancer Can be reduced by Vitamin D Supplements

Nitika Sharma*

Department of Medicine, University of Jadavpur, Kolkata, India

Abstract

The implementation of opioids – powerful, morphine-like ache alleviation medicines – may be considerably decreased in Vitamin D deficient patients receiving palliative cancer treatment, via providing them with sufficient vitamin D supplementation.

---

*Corresponding author: Nitika sharma, Department of Medicine, University of Jadavpur, Kolkata, India, Tel: 8978466035; E-mail: sharmaniti23@gmail.com

Received July 10, 2021; Accepted July 15, 2021; Published July 26, 2021

Citation: Sharma N (2021)

remedy for palliative cancer sufferers could have an impact on opioid-sensitive pain and fatigue.

Epidemiological studies have shown that proximity to the equator where high levels of sunlight exposure yield more vitamin D absorption