Dear Sir,

Clinical Microbiology: Open Access is a peer-reviewed journal - it is open access, publishes original articles on the topic of microbiology - it is particularly interesting in the clinical application. The journal is relatively young but very active and, in order to offer to its readers, high quality information that is useful for investigation and discussion.

As an Editorial Board Member and the journal staff, I have rounded a great deal of work - our intense commitment to constantly improve the quality of the journal. Therefore, I sincerely recommend Clinical Microbiology: Open Access to be indexed in PubMed.

Regards,
